ecross the river as Buffalo, and within a distance of five miles of her principal markets, are lo-Canadian agriculturists are hampered for want of a market. The Mills bill would supply that market, and would give them an advantage in the matter of distance over the farmers of Erie county, which would certainly prove extremely embarrassing, if not disastrous, to the latter. The facilities of transportation between Buffalo and the surrounding country in Canada are so great that Canadian farmers' wagons would certainly occupy the stands around the Buffalo markets without hindrance on all market days, if it were not for the protective influence of the present tariff. The Erie county people realize that the Mills bill, while giving the Canadiaus so many advantages, does not secure to the residents of the United States any return whatever for the concessions made. It is not a reciprocal measure by any means, but is purely a one-sided device for the detriment of the agriculturists on the American side of the border. This statement is so easily verified that the least posted men in political economy readily realize the wisdom of the Republican party in opposing the Mills bill. Hence, protection has a wider following in Mr.

Cleveland's own county to-day than it ever had before, and he himself is responsible for it. With all these obstacles to meet, Cleveland is not likely to find himself as well supported in this section of the Empire State as he was in 1884, and even the most sanguine Democrats admit that the outlook is not at all bright. On the other hand, I have found many conservative men who have always voted at their party's call who do not hesitate to say that, in their judg-ment, the vote against them will show a majority of at least thirty-five hundred, and possibly five thousand, for Harrison and Morton, and protection to American industries, in the county of Erie, which once gave Grover Cleveland a majority of seven thousand when he was a candidate for Governor.

THE EIGHTH DISTRICT.

The Dissensions Among the Democrats Grow More Serious in Character.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. TERRE HAUTE, July 16 .- There is sheel or the Wabash in the Democratic party, and the "kick" of two years ago that defeated Voorhees's protege, John E. Lamb, for Congress, was but an idle and insignificant party bolt compared with the row now on in the district over the nomination of a candidate for Congress at the convention at Brazil to-morrow. As in the Lamb revolt, the center of the revolution is here in Vigo county where, indeed, the revolts in all parties seem to have their origin This district comprises the countles of Vigo, Sullivan, Clay, Parke, Vermillion, Fountain and Montgomery, and on the basis of the vote for President in 1884 is something over 700 Democratic. The district then, however, included Warren (Republican) on the north and did not include Sullivan on the south, with its something over 1,000 Democratic majority. John Lamb was sent to Congress in 1882 because some Republicans here in Vigo led bolt on Peirce, Republican. In 1884 Johnston, Republican, defeated Lamb, and that winter the Legislature chosen to re-elect Voorhees obeyed his order to redistrict the district by taking off the Republican county and taking on Sullivan. Then came the federal appointments, and Lamb was held responsible for Voorhees' broken promises. The Senator for years had promised each and every fellow that called him "Dan" an office, and the offices would spot go around. Disgruntlement followed, then open revolt, which was made more bitter by seeing Lamb get the United States district attorneyship. The "Good Government Club" was organized, and it fought Lamb's confirmation, finally defeating him, and for Senator Harrison's part therein Voorhees regards the Republican candidate for President as his personal enemy. Then Lamb insisted on running for Congress, and the "Lamb kickers" defeated him in the 700 Democratic district by 1,300 votes. In that campaign, as well as in former ones, his chief backer was Crawford Fairbanks, a rich distiller here. Lamb showed some desire to try it again this year, but the "kickers" gave warning, and he took the place as elector at large for Cleveland. In passing it may be said the "kickers" kick ion this, and have formally notified the State committee that unless he is taken off the ticket there is danger of losing one electoral vote in this State. Fairbanks, however, comes to the front as a candidate for Congress. Voorhees and Lamb indorsed him. He is not popular personally, but the gang want his money, it being said that if he is nominated that it will be "a champagne campaign." But a new opposition has sprung up. Some of the "kickers" are for him, but others are against him, while Lamb's chief supporters of two years ago lead the new revolt. Judge John T. Scott, formerly of the Supreme beach, John G. Williams, general solicitor of the Vandalia road, with the Gazette people, are up in arms against him. Every county except Vigo and Clay, up to a few days ago, had indorsed a favor ite son. Vigo's primaries chose Fairbanks's delegates, some by fraud it is openly charged in formal protests by the new opposition, who have been named the "Runts," in contradistinction from the "Kickers." Fairbanks claims Clay's vote and the nomination on the second or third ballot to-morrow. The hope of boodle to come will probably secure him the nomination. Togay, however, the opposition are in Brazil in force. They predict his defeat at the polls, and argue that as he is a big figure in the whisky trust the Democratic party, being opposed to trusts, cannot support him.

The division in the party here is aggravated by the determination of the "Kickers" to defeat | head of the Nation, and now that Indiana has a whoever runs as the Voorhees candidate for State Senator, as the one elected will vote for the election of a successor to Mr. Voorhees. So, altogether, Mr. Voorhees's home political affairs are in a bad shape.

This afternoon Mr. Fairbanks withdrew from the race, fearing that, though he got the nomination, the opposition in his party would defeat him, and he would yet be sujected to the bleeding process by all the hungry politicians in the district. Possibly the Vigo county delegation may go to Judge Cyrus F. McNutt, and if so he will probably be nominated.

MR. BLAINE'S INTENTIONS.

He Will Take the Stump in Maine for Harrison-Not Seeking a Senatorship.

Washington Special to New York Press.

Mr. Blaine will sail from Europe Aug. 1, and arrive at New York about the 8th or 9th. There is no doubt that he will take an active part in the campaign; because, if he is perhaps the most eminent Republican, he is more interested in Republican success than anybody else, if that is possible. Nobody here, and possibly nobody anywhere, knows exactly what his movements in the canvass will be. He will make speeches surely in Maine and aid the ticket in all ways in it is not true, as some of the papers have said, that he is looking for the senatorship from the Pine Tree State. Many, it may be said, have wished that the weight of his brilliant leadership and the ripeness of his great information could be cast in the scales on their side in the upper branch of Congress, especially as international questions seem likely to come more and more to the front. But they have called to mind at once that there is hardly a stronger man in the Unit-States Senate to-day than William Pitt Frye, of Lewistown, Ma., and that, if Mr. Blaine does not conclude that private life and literary work are most congenial to him, the Secretaryship of State under Ben Harrison would be the least that the American portion of the American people would allow him to accept. But, all these considerations aside-for they are not in point, as Mr. Blaine's position in the regard of his party is not in the slightest danger -he will certainly talk and work in his own

Then will New York want to get along without him; and will Connecticut and New Jersey be contented with anything less than the Empire State gets! Most likely not. In the first place, let me say that the Democrats of New York, or in any other place, don't want to delude themselves into thinking that the Republean managers have any idea of giving up that State. They know that it is the best battle ground of the campaign. If they didn't the Republicans of the whole country would teach them mighty quick. No matter if the administration throws into the cities of New York all the forces of the federal influences; no matter if the most approved Southern methods are resorted to in places like the lower districts of New York city. and of certain quarters of Mr. Murphy's Albany county; no matter if it should happen again that the ballots east for some third candidate are counted for the man who is in-for, assume that General Butler, who hasn't lost his head yet, and has the largest pigeon holes full of the best current scandal, knows what he is talking about in these late days-no matter what is true and what is not true about New York, it is the best fighting ground. The State was lost in '84 by any one of half a dozen accidents that neither candidates, committees nor people, could fore-see or prevent. Not one of them will be allowed to repeat itself. There is another circumstance. 1 evi Parsons Morton was the man whom every .

body in the State-if the delegates to Chicago were representatives of the people and they were—wanted on the ticket for Vice-president. and somebody whom all the Republicans of the State will want on the gubernatorial ticket will get the nomination for that high office. Indeed. a good many will add that they know who the man will be. Then Ben Harrison, of the Hoosier State, enters into the calculation. The more you turn him over the more you find him a leader and fighter, with a character and record of singular clearness.

VANDERBURG COUNTY.

The Republicans Are All for Harrison, and Some Democrats A with Them.

special to the Indianapolis Journal. EVANSVILLE, Ind., July 16.-Never were the Republicans of Vanderburg county so aroused to the importance of a campaign as they are to the one just beginning, and this activity, earnestness and determination is a source of much anxiety to the local Democracy, and they are resorting to all kinds of low and contemptible tricks to dispel this unusual feeling, which is spreading to the outside. Just after the nomination of Cleveland and Thurman there was an attempt by the Democrats to ratify it with a grand demonstration, but it proved a complete failure. The parade contained less than one hundred voters, although headed by a band of music and a fire-works corps. A meeting followed in the Circuit Court room, and it was only comfortably filled. The speeches consisted of the usual abuse of the Republican party, but it was noticeable that a majority of those in the lead were Gray sympathizers and followers, and that they were stil sulky over their favorite's complete failure to receive the vice-presidential nomination. Since then there has been but one attempt at demonstrating publicly, and that was on Tuesday night last, when the McDonald Club, of about one hundred young Democrats, tendered ex-Senator McDonald and ex-Governor Proctor Knott, of Kentucky, a serenade, but it had no particular political significance. The boys only wanted to show their esteem for the ex-Senator, in honor of whom they had named their organization. Both of these distinguished visitors addressed the club briefly. In the course of his remarks Mr. McDonald expressed his belief in the success of the Democratic ticket. By the general tone of his words it could be seen that he was particularly pleased with Thurman's nomination, and that "your Uncle Joseph had shown his fine Italian hand" previous to the late Demo-Gray, in retaliation for past wrongs. This was particularly pleasing to this body of young Democrats, they being about the only members of the party here who are hostile to Gray. It was a bitter pill, however, to the older members of the party. Mr. Knott devoted very little of his eloquence in lauding Cleveland and Thurman, and the little that was said by him created more enthusiasm for the latter than the former. He then drifted into a vein of wit and put his hearers into a splendid humor. To offset this want of enthusiasm here the local managers have become alarmed and have begun to resort would be useless to make such claims here, but hope to mislead the outside public. General Harrison is a great favorite here, and is daily gaining in strength. A canvass of the railroad employes here shows that he is a favor-ite with this class of workmen, and steps are now being taken to organize a "Harrison and Morton Railroad Club." The German element, Democratic claims to the contrary, is satisfied with the Republican ticket, and the full party vote will be carried, while there will be a good sprinkling of Democratic votes for Indiana's favored son. Cleveland will lose considerable amongst the soldier element, which is unusually severe on his past record, especially on the pension question, while on the other hand General Harrison occupies a warm spot in the hearts all, and will draw largely outside of party followers. On Thursday evening last there was organized here a Tippecanoe Club, with some twentyfive charter members. These old veterans were strong Harrison men in 1836 and 1840, and will prove an important factor in the present campaign. This club is taking steps to visit Indianapolis in a body, in the near future, and pay to desperate means to suppress the truth and facts. They are now at work flooding outside

Democratic papers with false stories about prominent Republicans announcing themselves for Cleveland and Thurman. There is nothing whatever in the charges. The local organs, bitter as they are over Republican enthusiasm,

Handy, of Boonville, Warrick county, ex-judge of the Circuit Court of the Second judicial district of Indiana, and a stanch Democrat, who supported Cleveland four years ago, who said: "I shall east my vote, this year, for General Harrison, the Republican nominee for President, although four years ago I supported

"I don't like publicity, and would rather not parade my political views on any question," said the Judge, "but in truth, I am heartily tired of Cleveland and his administration. I think Gen. Harrison is the better man for the office. He is at able lawyer and was a brave soldier. His honesty and ability can't be impeached. I am influenced, also, by State pride. Ohio and Illinois have been honored with Presidents at the good man as a candidate for the chief magistraey, let us all lend a friendly, helping hand and elect him. Another thing that influences meam in favor of a free ballot and fair count. It is my opinion that in several Southern States this blessed privilege is not allowed or guaranteed to all voters. "Your letter of July 9, on behalf of the first Harrison Club of the United States, has been received. Allow me to thank you and the members of your organization for the prompt and cordial reception they have given to the Chicago nominations. I am pleased to notice what you say about the members and purposes of your club. Very truly yours, BENJAMIN HARRISON."

Independent Labor Party.

DETROIT, July 16 .- The grand council of the Independent Labor Party of the United States met here this morning to decide upon their policy for the coming campaign. The men present were Wm. Taylor and Secretary M. L. Stoddard, both of Cleveland; Peter Smith, West Virginia; W. W. Miles, Chicago; Thomas King. Indiana; James Thompson, Georgia; Wm. Springer, Wisconsin; J. W. Hitley, Pennsylvania: Samuel Snooshoeffer, South Carolina: Thomas Jones, New York, and Allen Mallory, East Saginaw, Mich. After discussing the platforms of the Republican and Democratic parties, nominations were called for. President Taylor moved that Harrison and Morton be indorsed as the candidates of the Independent Labor party, for President and Vice-president of the United States. The motion was seconded by Mr. Stoddard and carried unanimously.

Resolutions were adopted declaring that the labor party do not approve of President Cleveland's vetoes of pension bills; that the interests of workingmen can best be served by a protective tariff, and that every soldier ought to vote for Harrison, who served his country on the battle-field, instead of Cleveland, who sent a hired substitute. The council then re-elected its old officers and adjourned subject to call.

Democratic Defections in Kentucky. Louisville, July 16.—The presidential campaign is growing very warm here in Kentucky, and the tariff question has caused a lively breaking over of party lines. Louisville has a great many woolen-mills, and these manufacturers are very restive over the utterances of Cleveland. One of the most prominent of these is Mr. Henry W. Barrett, of the Eclipse Woolenmill, who said in an interview to-day: "I am going to vote the Republican ticket that Mr. Gould was threatened with this year for the first time in my life. I have but it is now out of danger and improvement from business.

considered myself hide-bound. I am voting this time for platform and not for party. Messrs. Meade Robinson and Bonnie Robinson, of the Bear Grass Mills, were reported as being among the converts on the Republican side. A reporter met the first named on the street and asked him about the matter. He said: "I don't know whether I shall vote the Republican ticket or not, but I do know that I won't vote for Cleveland. If he had not declared himself on the tariff issue so close to the campaign I believe he would have been elected easily, but I think now he will be the worst beaten man the Democrats ever put up. Until the present tariff issue was made up there was but little difference in the platforms of the two parties. But now we have a real live issue and I think the Democrats have the hot end of the poker. I am for protection, not alone for self-interest, but for the welfare of the country. Protection to labor and the products of labor means also protection to the products of the farm. If I lived in Indiana, or some State where my vote would count, I would most certainly vote for Harrison and Morton. and I believe the Republicans will carry Indiana, New Jersey and very probably New

Mr. Lawrence Richardson, of the old Kentucky Woolen-mills, has expressed his intention of voting the Republican ticket on account of the tariff issue.

Mr. Dennis Long and his son, George Long, are the richest iron and pipe manufacturers Louisville. They are both reported as converts to the Republican ticker, but the latter would not express himself for publication, further than to say that he could not vote for the Democratic nominees with such a tariff plank in the platform. He added that all iron men would oppose the Democratic ticket.

Another Harrison Club.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal SHELBYVILLE, July 16 .- On last Saturday night the Republicans of Van Buren township met in Fountaintown and proceeded to organize a Harrison and Mortan club. Pryor Rigdon was made chairman, and C. E. Inlow secretary. A call being made, over fifty came forward and became members, the first being Squire Warren B. Cole, who voted for old General Harrison in 1840; also, George N. Colclazier, a member of the Seventieth Indiana, commanded by Gen. Ben Harrison in the late war. The following officers were elected: President, S. R. Barnett; secretary, Inlow: treasurer, J. E. Campbell; lieutenants, Campbell, Marion Ayres, P. S. Kitchell; Corporals, John Lamb, H. W. Boles, E. P. Showalter and James Inlow. It was decided to go to Indianapolis on Taursday with the Shelby county delegation to pay their respects to General Harrison. The Hon. Alex. Black, of Greenfield, will address the club on Tuesday evening.

Heretofore he has been a pronounced Prohibitionist, and his influence for the third-party was remarkable, especially among the Friends, and his letter indorsing the protective tariff issue of the Republican party has acted like the explosion of a sixty-pounder in the ranks of the Prohibitionists here. Rev. Elwood Scott is a man of intellect, and has the courage of his convicvictions to express in explicit terms his indorsement of the Republican platform.

A. R. uniforms at political meetings. The order is the result of a good deal of gossip over the formation of an old soldiers' Harrison and Morton Club here and the candidacy of State Commander James Ege for the office of sheriff. The club has nothing to do with the G. A. R., however.

One of the subjects, Miss Mamie Leroy, could inot released, and some doctors who were summoned could not account for her condition. The spell was finally broken, but the girl refused to leave Kline, and when he finally escaped she became insensible. Kline was sent for and his presence gave her relief. Her father demanded that he break the spell or marry the girl. After trying every means of relief a justice was called in and tied the knot. Mamie is a handsome blonde, but her husband is greatly grieved, because he was engaged to marry a New York girl whom he dearly loved." The curiously mated couple were the guests of Mr. Shaw this week.

Three Railway Accidents.

Winnemuca, Nev., July 16.—Express train No. 3 was wrecked about daylight, Sunday morning, thirty-three miles west of here, by a broken rail. The engine passed over safely, but the fruit, baggage and United States Fish Commissioners' cars were badly wrecked. All the sleepers were thrown off the track but no passengers were hurt. LINCOLN, Neb., July 16.—The engine of a passenger train on the Burlington, collided with a sleeper on another train, about fifteen miles out from this city, early yesterday morning. The sleeper was telescoped and four passengers were slightly injured. The porter was so seriously injured that his life is despaired of.

Davis fied to the woods, and if captured will probably be lynched.

PROUD OF ITS STREET-CAR LINE.

Summer Night Festival at Woodruff Place in Honor of Its Street Railway.

Manager Shaffer, of the street-car line, made a serious mistake yesterday, when he endeavored to estimate the number of people interested in Woodruff Place, and the probable number who would want to attend the celebration given last night, in honor of the opening of the new line down Clifford avenue and past Woodruff Place. As a consequence, it was very difficult to get transportation to the scene of the festivities. The transfer car was crowded until a late hour with disappointed passengers, growling for a Woodruff Place car, and such care as did make the trip with their many passengers fully tested the strength of the new bridge upon that route. The Mendelssohn Glee Club, which was to have sung, arrived in small detachments. the tardier of which were too late for the exercises. Cameron's orchestra and the Springdale were therefore left to furnish the music. Along Clifford avenue many houses and yards were illuminated with Chinese lanterns. Woodruff Place itself presented a beautiful appearance, being literally ablaze with lights. There are at present fourteen families residing in the place, and all of them had illuminated their houses and the trees in the immediate vicinity thereof The crowd poured into the grounds from street-cars, in carriages and on foot, and there were several thousand of them by 9 o'clock. The west drive seemed to be the popular avenue, and a continual stream of humanity promenaded back and forth upon it during the evening. The weather was delightful, and this, with the attractiveness of the place, caused everyone to feel well repaid for the journey. The illumination and the music comprised the major portion of the jollification, for, while there was a brief meeting in the summer-house. where a short address was made, the greater part of the crowd could not get in hearing distance. Alfred F. Potts, one of the "oldest inhabitants," was the speaker of the occasion. After speaking briefly on the character of the place and the good it would derive from speedy connection with the city, he introduced a reso-lution lauding Woodruff Place and returning thanks to Manager Shaffer for the service he had done its people. The resolution was unani-mously adopted.

There are now residing in this beautiful resort Mrs. O. P. Morton, widow of Governor Morton, Mr. Alfred F. Potts, Judge Alex. C. Ayres, Judge J. N. Scott, Dr. E. F. Edenharter, late M. S. Huey, David Morris, E. E. Post, Charley Robinson, J. F. Messick, Henry Cilley, Dr. Maurice Albrecht, and Charles Rogers. Residences are now being erected by Mr. Bradford. a general officer of the L. "Free Whisky."

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: By a little slight-of-hand St. Paul can be made to indorse theft. Cut off the last two words of his command, "Let him that stole steal no more," and the thing is done. In the same way a couple of larcenies and a forgery or two will make "free whisky" out of the Republican platform. The tariff plank reads: "If there shall still remain a larger revenue than is requisite for the wants of the government, we favor the entire repeal of the internal taxes rather than the surrender of any part of our protective system at the joint behest of the whisky trusts and the agents of pauper manufacturers." Now, cut off the first and last clauses, raise the little "w" in "wi" to a capital and put a period after the words "protective system" (which sin't there), and the thing is done again. Next to filling a Chinese laundryman with free whisky and paying him to "Hallah for Hallison," this is the brightest thing accomplished up to date in the Democratic campaign of 1888. Next.

LOGANSPORT, July 16. D. P. BALDWIN. A Question for Workingmen.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: What do you think of a workingman who "lies awake of nights" trying to devise some plan by which he can decrease the profits of his employer, and then whines around about low wages? It is reported that there were some saw-makers in the Democratic procession Saturday evening. Of course they want to cut down the tariff on saws, so that English manufacturers can press Mr. Atkins a little harder in the way of competition. Now I want to ask these mechanics if, after they have got the tariff on saws reduced, they are willing to have their own wages reduced in the same proportion. If not, then I respectfully submit that it is about time to quit marching in Democratic processions.

PROTECTION.

General Sheridan. NEW BEDFORD, Mass., July 16 .- The following bulletin was issued by General Sheridan's physicians at 8 o'clock to-night:

"General Sheridan did not rest well" in the early part of last night, having a slight gastric disturbance. This passed off, however, and after midnight he was more easy. He has rested well to-day, sleeping frequently. He has relished his food and diested it well. On the Defensive.

Atlanta Constitution (Dem.) It is becoming very evident that this freetrade foolishness, and the internal revenue business, are the only two things the Democratic party is on the defensive on. There is a wonderful scarcity of free-trade speakers up North. Even Henri Watterson, who raved over the painted harlot, protection, says he never Detroit Tribune. There is one Democrat chieftain in Indiana who deeply regrets that circumstances over which he has no control will prevent him from taking an active part in the campaign. His name is Sim Coy, and for the sake of his family we refrain from giving his postoffice address.

If wool lived in South Carolina or Louisiana it could get from the Democratic party anything it might have the nerve to ask for.

It is Absurd

For people to expect a cure for Indigestion, unless they refrain from eating what is unwholesome; but if anything will sharpen the appetite and give tone to the digestive organs, it is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Thousands all over the land testify to the merits of this medicine.

Mrs. Sarah Burroughs, of 248 Eighth street, South Boston, writes: "My husband has taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla, for Dyspepsia and torpid liver, and has been greatly benefited."

A Confirmed Dyspeptic.

C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla and, by its use, was entirely cured.

Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes.
